This directory of educational data processing installations within the Central Midwestern Regional Educational Laboratory region was compiled from the results of a 1967 survey. Since only 452 of 1,069 survey questionnaires were returned, the directory does not contain a complete listing of all such installations in the area. Sixty-nine institutions in Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, and Tennessee, indicating they possessed data processing equipment, make up the directory listings. The directory is divided into three sections. The first section shows the educational data processing installations by State and by county; the second shows organizations reported to have done data processing operations for educational institutions; and the third is a telephone directory for data processing installations by State and educational institution. Information listed in the directory for each installation includes address, telephone number, person in charge, data processing equipment on hand, major applications for which the equipment is suited, operations schedule, and availability to other organizations. Dear Participant,

This is your requested copy of the Data Processing Directory compiled from the results of our survey made during the spring of 1967.

INTRODUCTION

This directory was prepared by the Central Midwestern Regional Educational Laboratory, Inc. as the result of a regional survey conducted in March and April 1967.

The directory does not contain a complete listing of all Educational Data Processing installations within the CEMREL region. It is only as complete as the returns from the survey questionnaire make it.

A total of 1069 survey questionnaires were mailed to educational institutions within or adjacent to the CEMREL region. This included Colleges, Universities, School Districts, and the State Departments of Education of Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, and Tennessee. Completed questionnaires were received from 452 institutions, representing a 42% return of questionnaires mailed.

Of the 452 returns received, 69 institutions indicated they possessed data processing equipment. These 69 installations are shown on the following pages.

The purpose of publishing this directory is to aid those who have an educational data processing problem find answers through communicating with others who may have faced the same problems and who have experience and capability.

The directory is divided into three sections. The first section shows the educational data processing installations by State and by County; the second shows organizations reported to have done data processing operations for educational institutions; and the third is a telephone directory by state and educational institution.

We wish to thank all those who have participated in our survey. We hope the information contained in the following pages will prove useful.
